Sheet & Tube Chief Asks Work Begin on Erie Waterway

Glossbrenner Appears Before House Group

Canal Would Serve
Industrial Region
In Ohio Valley

WASHINGTON (AP) — A. S. Glossbrenner, president of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., has urged Congress to begin immediate construction of the proposed Lake Erie Waterway.

Glossbrenner appeared Monday before the House Appropriations Subcommittee in support of the $200,000 budget item to complete a study of the proposed canal. He said:

"It is my personal opinion that this project could be started promptly by the Corps of Army Engineers if your committee were satisfied with the adequacy of the legal authority presently existing for the project.

"I do not think a new authorization by Congress is necessary to get the project under construction."

Cites Congress Act

Glossbrenner said Congress, in the 1935 Rivers and Harbors Act, authorized a 25-mile leg of the proposed 105 - mile canal from Lake Erie to the Ohio River, from Rochester, Pa., to Struthers, Ohio.

"It is my contention that the first 35 miles of the Lake Erie-Ohio River Waterway is now authorized and that the second portion from Struthers, Ohio, to Ash-tabula, Ohio, a distance of some 65 miles, is conditionally authorized," Glossbrenner asserted.

He said conditional authorization is contained in the language of the same 1935 act which authorizes continuance of the canal to the Ashtabula area "subject to the final approval of the whole project . . . by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors."

Glossbrenner urged the subcommittee to "pass a proper resolution requesting a legal opinion of your counsel for your future use in considering the legal status of this project."

Would Serve Area Industry
The proposed canal would serve the Pittsburgh - Youngstown-Cleveland industrial complex.

Rep. Michael J. Kirwan, D-Ohio, a strong backer of the proposed canal, is chairman of the subcommittee that heard Glossbrenner's testimony.

John C. Bane of Pittsburgh, an attorney for the Upper Ohio Valley Association, testified in opposition to the project. The association is made up primarily of railroad interests.

Glossbrenner said, "The steel industry of the United States has invested, on the average, more than $1 billion, in each of the last 10 years in new steelmaking equipment" and that the cost of transportation is important in determining where to locate new steel facilities.

He said Congress has "provided water transportation for most steel producing areas in the United States," and that "water transportation has brought employment and prosperity to the people . . . You owe equal treatment to areas which are now without the advantages of water transportation."

Bane said his organization is very much against the canal but is "very strongly in favor of this survey . . . because we think the survey will show the canal should not be built."

A $280,000 appropriation was previously made for the survey. The requested $220,000 for fiscal 1963 would complete the survey.

Bane said, "The canal would cost $1 billion, and for less than one-tenth of that the government could build a railroad and operate it free and carry more tonnage than the canal can carry." The canal proposal, he said, "is just to use public money to subsidize steel mills in the Youngstown area and would injure every other steel center."

Bane said the canal would "hurt the mining industry in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, destroy 11,000 railroad jobs and do all kinds of injuries to many thousands of other people."

JFK Says Marines Will Land In Thailand In 'Matter of Hours'

Callahan to Return to Salem

4 Teachers Hired; 5 Others Resign

The Salem Board of Education last night accepted the resignation of five teachers and announced the hiring of four new ones, for next year.

John Callahan, 53, who left Salem two years ago to accept a position with the Ohio State Department of Education in Columbus, will be returning here next fall as assistant principal at Senior High.

Callahan served 12 years in the Salem public school system as high school dean of boys. He was appointed assistant principal when the new high school opened in 1958. His wife, Lucille, worked as a school secretary here.

Callahan's position with the Ohio Department of Education was supervisor of teacher certification and standards.

Salary To Be $8,000

He will assume his duties at Salem Senior High on Aug. 15. His annual salary will be $8,000.

Also hired for next school year was Dale C. Valentine, who will become an assistant principal at Buckeye School. Valentine has been teaching at United Local in Hanoverton for the past two years. Previously he had taught at Euclid.

Valentine will receive a base salary of $4,650, plus $325 for handling the intramural program at Buckeye and $150 for serving as assistant principal.

Dorothy Krohn of Youngstown, who will be graduated this summer from Ohio State University, has been hired to teach art here next year at an annual salary of $4,350.

Marye Fisher, a Salem High graduate who is teaching at St. Paul School, will instruct a special education class at Senior High starting next fall. Her annual salary will be $4,750.

Among those resigning is Leroy Hoskins, who has served as boys counselor at Senior High since coming here two years ago from Leetonia. Hoskins has accepted a position in the public school system at Rocky River where he will receive a substantial increase in pay over what he is getting here.

Also resigning to accept positions in other school systems are Robert Adams, who has been teaching grade school, and James Pearson, art teacher at Junior High. Another Junior High teacher who resigned, Karen Backus, is leaving the state.

Legislation On Streets Near

Council May Act On 2nd St., Broadway

Ordinances which would allow the city to proceed with resurfacing E. 2nd St. and S. Broadway are expected to be introduced at the regular meeting of City Council at 7:30 tonight in City Hall, according to President Ford Joseph, Jr.

The legislators are awaiting word from the State Highway Department about the possibility of getting the federal government to share the cost of resurfacing Jennings Ave. which is in the federal secondary highway system.

Council already has passed legislation authorizing the city to proceed with resurfacing Columbia St. from S. Lincoln Ave. to Broadway.

The cost of each of the projects will be shared on a 50-50 basis by the city and property owners. The city's share will be paid for out of capital improvement funds.

Costs Are Itemized

Total cost for resurfacing the streets with asphalt would be as follows:

1. Columbia St. from S. Lincoln to Broadway ($8,629.40).
2. S. Broadway from State St. to Euclid ($30,930.12).
3. Second St. from Jennings Ave. to N. Lincoln ($13,452.92).
4. Jennings Ave. from State St. to the end of the curbing ($24,300.02).

Another street still under consideration for resurfacing this summer is Franklin from Broadway to S. Ellsworth Ave. The cost of this project would be $4,778.26 if asphalt is used or $21,425.04 for concrete.

Ready for a third reading at tonight's Council meeting is an ordinance authorizing the service director to advertise for bids and enter into contract for the purchase of an industrial tractor with a high-lift loader attachment.

Joseph says he does not know whether anything will be brought up tonight on the parking meter dispute.

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer said Monday that he has received no word from the Magee Hale Park-O-Meter Co. of Oklahoma City as to what they intend to do about attempting to collect $12,842 from the city for 278 parking meters ordered by him and installed along the curbing downtown last year.

City Solicitor Thomas Coy says the meters were purchased under a "void" contract and can't be paid for. City Council has invited Magee-Hale to file a claim against the city to get its money for the meters.

Board Still Studies Old Postoffice Use

The Salem Board of Education's night that they would continue to explore the possibility of acquiring the building from the government.

"I believe it would be to our advantage to explore this a little bit more," Supt. Paul E. Smith commented about the building. He pointed out that as of now, there has been no definite word that the building will be available to the schools.

No Purchase Price
The superintendent says that it is his understanding that the building could be deeded to the schools without charge, provided the facilities are used for classrooms. However, the board's early interest in the building was primarily for use as administration offices and for storage.

President de Gaulle's government enforced extraordinary security precautions around the rambling, historic Palace of Justice to prevent any desperate attempt by rightist terrorists to free their hero.

U.S., Bonn Cut Differences

Adenauer, Dowling
Report on Meeting

BONN, Germany (AP) — The United States and West Germany have reduced their differences to what they call "details," but informed sources said one detail is a key provision of U.S. proposals to the Soviet Union for a Berlin settlement.

A communique issued after a two-hour meeting between U.S. Ambassador Walter C. Dowling and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Monday said the two nations were in "final agreement in all essential points."

"There will be further talks over several details," the communique added. "It is the intention of both sides to remain in close touch."

Informants said disagreement continues to center on the U.S. proposal for East German representation on a 13-nation authority to control access routes to West Berlin.

The Bonn government, after seemingly rejecting the whole idea last week, once again says it favors the basic principles of an international authority but objects to East German participation. The West Germans fear that this would imply further international recognition of East Germany's Communist regime.

Adenauer also objected to inclusion of three neutral nations on the authority. He said this would give them control and place on them a responsibility they would not accept.

Informants said there was also disagreement over other points but further details were not disclosed. The communique said the meeting concerned U.S.-West German relations with "special consideration of the German-Berlin question, problems of European unity and the general world political situation."

President Kennedy ordered Dowling to call on Adenauer after the chancellor indicated at a Berlin news conference last week that he felt the U.S.-Soviet talks on Berlin should be broken off.

Publicly agitated, Kennedy at his news conference invited the West Germans to make their own proposals. It was understood that none have been made so far, but that West German counter-proposals could be expected soon.

20 Moslems Killed In Algiers

Secret Army Fires
Into Native Quarter

ALGIERS (AP)—The European Secret Army Organization stepped up its killing of Moslems today in retaliation for the first major Moslem terrorist attack since the March 18 cease-fire.

By 11 a.m., 19 Moslem men and a Moslem woman had been killed in Algiers and nine Moslems had been wounded. The Europeans concentrated their shooting in the Hussein Day quarter, where many Moslems live.

One European was killed and one wounded.

The killing of Moslems spread to Oran, secret army holed in Algeria. Five Moslems, including a woman, were slain by terrorists. A 70-year-old Moslem man was shot to death in a Jewish quarter.

Authorities in both Algiers and Oran seemed powerless to choke off the terrorism.

The Moslem outburst Monday was seen as a warning of worse to come unless the European terrorists are checked. The secret army replied with more shooting.

Police said 26 persons were killed and 88 wounded by commands of the Moslem National Liberation Front who drove at high speed through Algiers with machine guns blazing. Twenty of the dead and 78 of the wounded were Europeans.

The secret army's terrorist toll Monday was 10 Moslems, three of them women.

The Moslem rampage ended only after authorities imposed a

3 Involved In Gas Theft Go To County Jail

Emile Marycz, 25, of 15 Quincy Ave., Columbiana, was fined $100 and sentenced to six months in the county jail for giving a false report to Columbiana police that his car was stolen May 12, when he appeared before Judge Herbert E. Arfman in Eastern County Court Monday.

Marycz reported his car stolen after he and two companions had gone to the Galen Hawkins farm on the Columbiana-Middletown Rd. Hawkins let his companions out of the car to start siphoning the gas from a storage tank and struck an electrical fence that set off a burglar alarm, police reported.

When the alarm went off, Marycz drove back to Columbiana, leaving his companions behind, and reported his auto stolen in an attempt to clear himself of suspicion, according to police.

His companions, Raymond L. Hiner and Charles Rhoads, both of S. Main St. Ext., Columbiana, were each fined $100 and sentenced to 90 days in jail.

begin landing in Thailand within a matter of hours.

The President was understood to have told the bipartisan group in a 45-minute meeting that the primary purpose is to help defend Thailand against the Red threat from neighboring Laos.

Informants said Kennedy stressed that his primary policy still is to get a peaceful settlement in Laos itself.

The main thrust of his diplomacy at the moment, officials said, is to get the cease-fire restored in that Southeast Asian nation and revive negotiations for a coalition government.

Calls Situation Difficult
House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said after the White House conference that the situation in Southeast Asia is "certainly very difficult."

As to the nature of the discussion with the President, he would only say "There were no commitments asked and none given."

The U.S. and Thai governments, it was learned, have fully agreed on the landing of a Marine combat detachment from the force of about 2,000 men aboard an aircraft carrier task force off the Thai coast.

The task force was believed to be operating well up in the Gulf of Siam.

Informants said an announcement of the operation was expected here late today. The Marines are being added to an Army battle group of 1,000 men already in Thailand as a result of recent Southeast Asia Treaty Organization military maneuvers.

In advance of the morning bipartisan White House meeting, Kennedy was reported embarking on a two-pronged policy with main emphasis on a political solution to the Laos tangle—not the use of American armed forces.

Reason for Optimism

Administration strategists found some reason for optimism for a peaceful outcome in late reports of a lapse in Laotian fighting and a renewed interest by Laotian factions in agreeing on a nationwide government.

A White House statement was expected later in the day outlining the reasons for bolstering Thailand, a U.S. ally neighboring Laos.

About 1,000 U.S. Army combat troops, already in Thailand for Southeast Asia Treaty Organization exercises, were reported Monday to be earmarked for deployment along the Thai-Laotian border.

Washington sources also said landing in Thailand of about one-half of a 2,000-man Marine battle group from the U.S. 7th Fleet was imminent.

The U.S. aid is being extended under an agreement with Thailand "to act to meet the common danger" in case of Communist threat.

Authoritative sources said, however, that this does not mean reversal of the U.S. policy of promoting a Laotian settlement through a cease-fire and formation of an independent neutral government in the tiny Southeast Asian country.

The hurriedly called White House session displaced Kennedy's usual weekly meeting with congressional Democratic chiefs. Invited to the special conference were Democratic and Republican

Tax Check Expected This Week

School Board To Borrow

The Board of Education, as anticipated, has found it necessary to borrow money to meet today's payroll and take care of unpaid bills.

At its regular meeting last night in the Junior High School library, the board authorized Clerk-Treasurer Wallace King to borrow $53,000 from the Farmers National Bank.

Although the schools finished 1961 with a slight balance and expect to do so again this year, King said they probably will be operating in the "red" until late summer or early fall when the second half distribution of real estate tax money starts coming in.

Asst. Supt. D. M. Fadely said a check for about $90,000 is expected this week from the county in the final distribution of first half real estate taxes.

Even with this settlement the schools will still be in the "red" because in addition to the $53,000 to be borrowed today, there is a $100,000 loan outstanding with the First National Bank.

It is the hope of the board and the administration that eventually a sufficient surplus can be built up so that it will not be necessary to borrow money while waiting for tax monies to come in.

The board received a letter of appreciation from the Salem Teachers Association for the improved salary schedule approved earlier this month by the board to go into effect next school year. The teachers also listed suggestions for future consideration by the board on various phases of the salary schedule.

Edward Miller and Robert Groener, who own and operate school buses under contract with the board, attended last night's meeting and put in a request for a pay increase. They pointed out that repair costs and the price for new buses have gone up sharply since their last pay increase.

The bus owners were asked to prepare figures on their request for a pay hike and present them to the board for consideration.

Supt. Smith reported that four Salem teachers have won scholarships for summer college training. Jack Alexander and Harold Paxson will study math at the University of Illinois; Anthony Monteleone has a scholarship to study Spanish at Kent State University; and Walter Newton will receive additional training in science at Miami University.

The superintendent announced that the Class of 1962 is buying a large clock for the front of the Senior High School Building.

The next meeting of the Board of Education will be 7:30 p. m. May 28 at the Junior High School library.

High School Class Approved For Mentally Handicapped

The Board of Education last night approved the extension of this special classes program for mentally handicapped children into the high school and the addition of three courses for the senior year.

Presently there are three special classes for the mentally handicapped at the elementary level and one in junior high. The board's action last night adds one class at the senior high level.

This class will be designed to take care of some potential drop-outs and will adapt the curriculum, methods and materials to the special needs of these children, Supt. Paul E. Smith stated. "It will provide concrete, meaningful and functional activities with special attention to citizenship and vocational training," the superintendent explained.

Smith said that including high school students who will return next year and a few students who will be moving up from junior high, there will be approximately 16 in the special class at Senior High.

The additional courses which will be added to the senior year are Practical English, Contemporary Literature and Review Mathematics.

The courses in English and literature are designed to provide additional training in the communication skills for seniors who are most likely will not go on to college.

Smith said the mathematics review will provide an opportunity for terminal pupils to refurbish their skills and knowledge of arithmetic. It has been designed for nursing candidates and those who will seek sales and clerical positions, he explained.

The administration has completed a 56-page guidance manual which is now being distributed to pupils in grades 8-11, parents and teachers. Teachers will use this guide to counsel students, particularly on the best possible course of study that should be pursued by each student.

Stadium Lighting System May Be Installed by Fall

Asst. Supt. of Schools D. M. Fadely said Monday that there is a good possibility that renovation of the lighting system at Reilly Stadium can be completed before the high school football season opens next fall.

In addition to installing more powerful lights, the project would include moving the light poles off the field and placing new ones behind the bleachers.

Plans for installing the lights should be completed in a few days, Fadely said. It then will be possible to advertise for bids.

$15,650, a contract can be let. That is the amount now available for the lights. It includes funds already set aside by the school board for this purpose, a contribution expected from the athletic department and donations from various organizations, including the Boosters and Kiwanis Clubs.

Without these contributions it would be several years before the school board could afford to put up the new lights, Fadely said.

A previous estimate for a new lighting system at the stadium set the cost at $18,000. However, this was with steel poles. Fadely says plans now are to use wooden poles which probably are just as good as steel poles and cost only about one-third as much. He pointed out that the present wooden light poles at the stadium have been up since 1928.

Fadely also said Monday that the entrance to the parking lot at the rear of the Senior High School building will be paved with asphalt this summer. The board has allocated $5,000 for this project, and Fadely said this should be enough to pave the entrance at least up to the "Y" in the drive.

The rest of the drive and the parking lot will be oiled as soon as the black-topping is completed, Fadely said.

Introduce Problems During Test

Control Room Men Simulate Carpenter's Space Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — If Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter had been aboard his "Aurora 7" spacecraft on its latest simulated mission, he would not have completed his full three-orbit mission.

Control room men made several things go wrong just to show what could happen on the actual flight, now set for Saturday.

Everything appeared to progress smoothly on the first orbit.

Then problems popped up in quick succession.

The altitude control system acted up, making it difficult to keep the heat shield forward. Then an inverter, an instrument that switches direct to alternating current, overheated.

Medical monitors noted a minor problem with the equipment transmitting the astronaut's pulse rate.

Suddenly, the electronic clock aboard the capsule, which automatically fires the reverse rockets to bring the craft out of orbit, began losing one second every minute.

Smoke from an unknown source filled the capsule and began filtering into the pilot's pressure suit.

In the Mercury control center at Cape Canaveral, flight director Christopher Craft assessed the troubles and decided the astronaut's life was in danger.

Aurora 7 was ordered back to earth after two orbits, instead of the intended three, and the capsule impacted in the Atlantic Ocean 45 miles from a waiting recovery ship.

The simulation was a game—a deadly serious game the worldwide Mercury control center played to sharpen its ability to direct Carpenter safely through space.

Carpenter did not participate in this simulation. His backup, Walter M. Schirra, "flew" the landlocked Aurora 7 during the launching phase, then personnel at tracking stations around the globe read the part written for the astronaut during the flight.

The Mercury team has played the game more than 40 times in preparation for Carpenter's flight, many times with Carpenter seated in the capsule now in place atop the Atlas booster rocket.

One more full dress rehearsal is scheduled Thursday in the final tuneup for Carpenter's space ride.

The meeting was held to provide information on the referendum. A question and answer period followed the talks.

Also attending the meeting were Donald Myers, county extension agent in agricultural, and Earl Lora, office manager of the A.S.C. office in Lisbon.

GOP Asks Freeman Resign In Wake of Estes Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators try today to fit together the pieces of the Billie Sol Estes puzzle as Republicans filed new charges of finagling and called for Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman to resign.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee that is exploring the complicated ventures of the indicted Texas financier, said he would meet with two subcommittee investigators who questioned Estes in Texas. They apparently got little from him, McClellan said Monday.

The investigators — subcommittee counsel Donald O'Donnell and Paul E. Kammerick—also are expected to brief McClellan on reports of other investigators trying to spade up evidence in Texas on Estes' wheeling and dealing and any profitable connections he may have had with government officials.

Meanwhile, Republicans in the Senate and House peppered the Agriculture Department and its chief with more stinging words.

Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., called for Freeman's resignation in a Senate speech Monday. Allott also said the White House had maintained a "strange silence" about alleged influence deals linking Estes with Agriculture Department officials.

He and Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., charged that possibly criminal reprisal had been taken against people at the Agriculture Department who wanted to disclose or investigate facts about Estes' deals.

Williams said a woman secretary in the department had been "railroaded" into a mental institution here for "refusing to cooperate in covering up corruption" in the department. Freeman's office promptly issued a statement disputing this and said the department regretted that the medical problems of an employee had been made into a political controversy.

Allott said the woman, Miss Mary Kimbrough Jones, 51, was "dragged off screaming" and held for 12 days at an institution, then found to be mentally sound.

He and Williams both questioned whether law had been violated because, they said, she had no chance to talk to her own doctor or lawyer, there was no reason to believe she might need mental care and she was found to be sane.

Williams said Dr. Lee K. Buchanan, the Agriculture Department doctor who sent her to the institution had not been available since.

Miss Jones was secretary to N. Battle Hales, an Agriculture Department official whom Williams said was shifted to an insignificant job and stripped of access to files for demanding an FBI investigation of Estes' dealings. Williams said Hales himself was questioned by the FBI instead, and that this marked the start of what he termed the harassment of Miss Jones for being loyal to Hales.

Hales, in a news conference two weeks ago, argued that Estes had received favored treatment at the agency. His superiors denied that this was true.

Dear Strom: Stop Strumming

Nothing has come of our campaign to make Strom Thurmond, senator from South Carolina, cease and desist from a practice that is giving us the willies. It is giving other newspapers the willies, too.

Sen. Thurmond, who seems to fancy himself as the embodiment of southern-fried something or other, uses his franking privilege to bombard other people with his highly individualistic points of view.

Let it be clearly understood before the senator's friends (who are determined and highly articulate) start throwing stench bombs that we are not quarreling with Strom Thurmond's right to think anything he please about anything that may come to his mind. We are complaining about his misuse of the franking privilege to bombard us with personal propaganda.

He is not running for anything in this state. He is not about to be running for anything that would entail the indoctrination of U.S. citizens outside his home state of South Carolina. If he wants to propagandize them, all right. If he wants to propagandize non-South Carolinians—all wrong.

At a time when Congress is monkeying with the idea of juggling postal rates to cut down on the postal deficit, a move that could wipe out some of the country's small magazines with no access to important advertising revenue to pay their way, this idea of plastering the country with free mail sticks in the mail chute like a handful of hay.

Except the cost of unloading all that stuff on people who don't want it ain't hay. It says on the envelope it's "Official Business." Bosh!

Theory In Nuclear Tests

The theory behind the U.S. nuclear deterrent, oversimplified, is that a good offense is better than a good defense. The theory becomes extremely dubious once the "other side" develops a good defense.

If Soviet Russia were able to make its own territory immune to American missiles, it would be in a position to attack the United States without fear of retaliation.

This is the background of the nuclear tests in the Pacific. Hardly a year ago Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of the Air Research and Development Command, had been able to tell a congressional group he was "quite certain" that the Russians, like us, had no defense against a ballistic missile.

But the Soviet tests last autumn dismayed the West. The Times of London reported:

"Evidence of this advance was found in the debris of two . . . explosions that the Americans' sophisticated detection apparatus almost failed to monitor. This near failure was itself disturbing, but subsequent tests provided reliable information on the nature of the explosions. It was agreed that the Soviet Union had achieved invaluable results that promise the early development of an AICBM (anti-intercontinental ballistic missile) warhead."

What we are trying to find out in the Pacific testing is what happens when an atomic warhead explodes. We want to study the effect of a nuclear explosion on a nuclear weapon. We want to see what nuclear explosions high in the air will do to ground radar and communications.

The tests do not involve the use of an anti-missile weapon. Non-nuclear tests of the Nike-Zeus, our only anti-missile missile in the development stage, are scheduled for this summer. The weapons will be based on the Kwajalein Island; their mission will be to intercept and destroy in flight dummy ICBMs fired from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California, 5000 miles away.

Bone Throwers On the Potomac

It seems odd that Treasury Secretary Dillon should concede that changes needed to be made in the same section of a tax bill that the way the politics was running last Thursday.

Secretary Dillon also proposed changes in other parts of the tax bill not referred to by President Kennedy. All of his proposals came under the general heading of being merciful to taxpayers. A fundamental principle is at stake here.

The truth is that federal taxation has been years. The truth is that every tax move being made in Washington right now is an attempt to pluck more feathers off a flock of taxpayer-geese that are now fighting for their lives not just their feathers. Resistance to federal taxation is stiffening.

Wanted: 3 Men

Salem's crime rate, fortunately, is not as high as some other communities and it is infrequent that safe-crackings, robberies and assorted offenses against the public occur.

Because of this, many people were shocked when three hooded gunmen invaded the privacy of the John Martin home on N. Union Ave. and tried unsuccessfully to open the safe at the A. & P. market that Mr. Martin manages. The company's announcement yesterday that it is offering a $10,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bandits may bait the trap that all decent, law-abiding Salem citizens hope will spring shut. Sometimes the tiniest bit of information provides the real clue.

'Little Leaguers'

With no intentions of starting an argument about the merits of spontaneous sandlot baseball of yesteryear and today's well-organized junior baseball clubs, we believe the popular Hot Stove Leagues provide a better opportunity for boys to learn the rudiments of the game under good coaching and therefore become better athletes.

The public apparently smiles favorably on the "little league" operation because donations from citizens here over the weekend totaled $970, comparable to what was given last summer to finance the local program. The money provides for equipment to keep nearly 1,000 energetic boys busy—and out of trouble.

Once Over

This column is in memory of my wife, Cecilia Carney Phillips, long ill but gone in the final dark hour as if brushed away by the wings of angels themselves moved by her long anguish and matchless valor.

A line by James Barrie truly marked her: "Charm is a sort of bloom on a woman, she has it or she lacks it, but if she has it nothing else matters."

She had this wondrous bloom throughout her life. It was not a superficial bloom, but a deep reflection of an inner glow.

Behind it were love without bounds, an unmistakable Christian spirit and a dedication to our comfort and happiness. To build a home and make "her man" happy was her constant purpose. Her mere presence was inspirational.

From the moment we left the altar together 22 years ago she was an unfailing source of help, matchless devotion and guidance. No job was a task to her. It is per-

The New Post Office

We knew it anyway but it was nice to hear Congressman Wayne L. Hays tell us that "community effort" got us our new post office building.

Civic-minded groups and individuals had labored for nearly 10 years before a concerted campaign a year ago brought the program to a climax with the announcement that a site had been obtained and a contract let for construction of the modern structure that now graces the corner of Penn and Columbia, a "stone's throw" from the municipal parking lot.

The new Post Office is a credit to the city and a tribute to the efforts of the many who labored to get it and a testimonial to the efficient service of Postmaster Ray Reasbeck's outstanding corps of mail clerks and carriers.

By H. I. Phillips

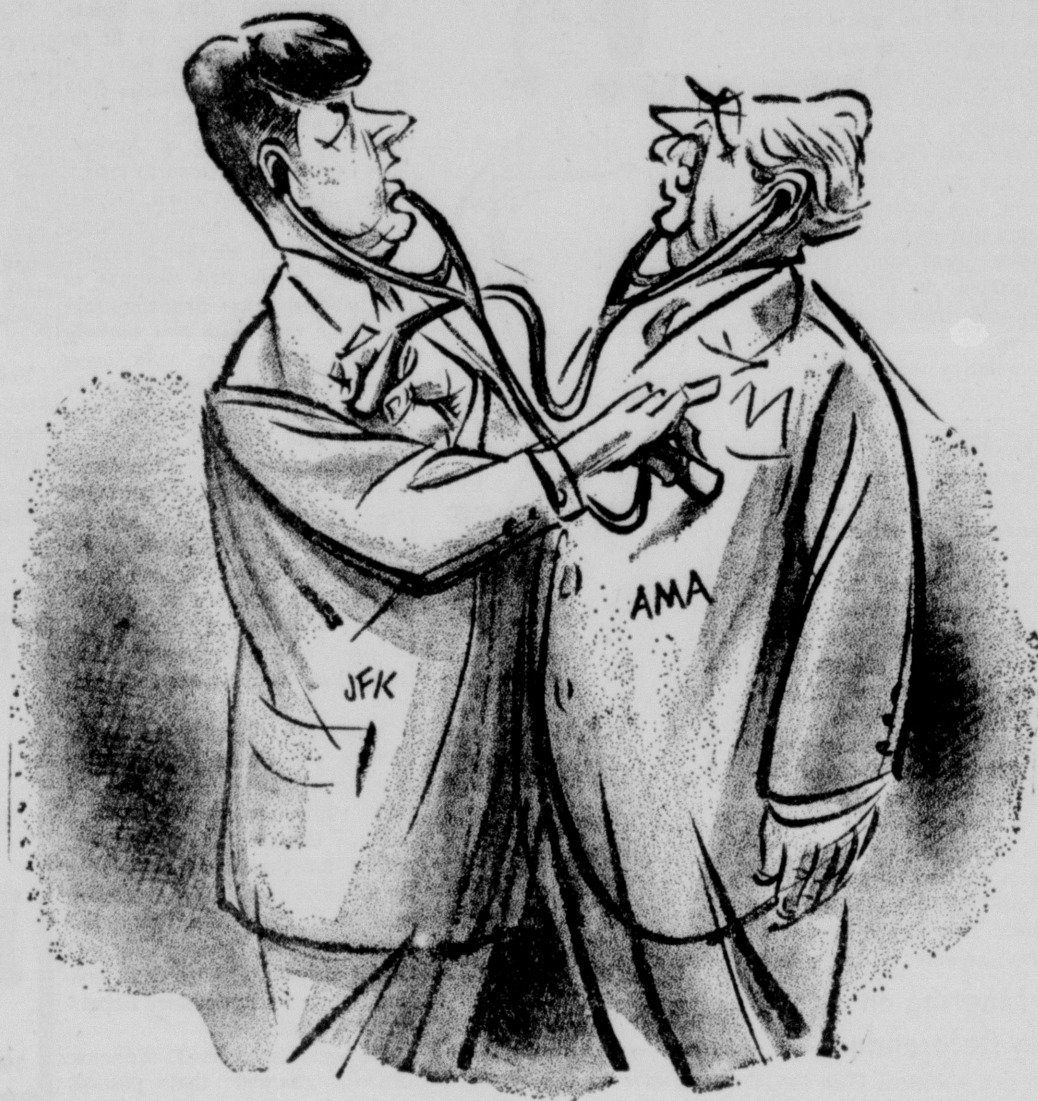

haps only now that I have a true appreciation of all this.

There was radiance about her. Her happiness was shattered only when she was suddenly stricken and taken into the shadows by a long and harrowing illness, embracing repeated eye surgery, bravely borne through failure after failure.

Even with one eye lost and sight threatened in the other, she met the terrorizing spectre of possible blindness with, "Darling, I will lick this." Finally as health, spirit, nerves and hope faded, the bright light of her resistance flickered and went out as abruptly as the glow of a candle burned to the end and swept by a sudden breeze.

The thought of her in a grave is a devastating thought softened only by confidence she walks in the kingdom of the Lord, her resurrection manifested to me and to all who knew her, through the sudden spring blossoming of trees and flowers. Peace to her soul.

"Hmm . . . Serious!"

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

This land is being sifted for hidden loot by the most massive network of grand juries under a centrally directed master plan in the history of the Justice Department.

In crisscrossing this country I've just finished counting at least 50 such federal probes of sticky-fingered officials who have been besmirching their own movement by dipping into union tills or have taken such employers' "gifts" as autos, yacht fuel and fodder, pieces of corporations in the mining and construction fields, and even restaurant credit cards.

By my count there have been 89 indictments. There probably are more which have slipped out of this survey. Scores more are now being probed not only in the shadowland unions but in the crime combines.

There are other grand juries, such as the one in New York now quietly hearing the steel companies and some which have been digging into municipal corruption on a line from Indiana to Georgia.

What also is unique is Attorney General Robert Kennedy's dispatch of special Department of Justice Washington headquarters lawyers to aid, supervise and report back on the progress of the regional grand juries.

THERE HAVE BEEN large numbers of grand juries sitting in the past, but never before have they operated on a central theme under such central direction.

Just as other recent grand juries have ranged from probes of milk bottles to steel bars, there have been no limiting the investigations of the labor field.

Searchings of the latter have stretched from New York to the Southern District of Florida, Virginia, Louisiana, Maryland, Illinois, Sioux Falls, South Dakota, Texas, Ohio, West Virginia, Alabama, Honolulu and Union City, N.J.

After these labor probes, women as well as men have been indicted. Those awaiting trial: A Sioux Falls carpenter's official, charged with embezzlement of $3,794.97.

There is in Butte, Mont., a bakery workers' man, a security and protective workers union official in Hawaii. There are a musician's official, a bricklayer, an electrician, a painter, a hodcarrier, an operating engineer, a restaurant workers man.

There is one from a doll nad toy workers local in northern New Jersey. Another involves an Illinois iron workers local. The arrests run right across the board. These are exclusive of the Teamsters, now being probed by at least 29 of the total number of federal juries.

WHAT IS UNIQUE is the detailedness of the investigations. To the new probes, it's the principle not the cash. There have been indictments on charges of misuse of several hundred dollars as well as alleged acceptance of some $17,000 from a transportation employer. A shake-down in other words.

The principle simply is that union cash must not be used for any private purpose — not for lunches, not for vacation trips, not for gasoline for union cars used as personal property. The purpose is to make local unions less appealing for hoods seeking an operational base.

Of all the indictments, the most important is that of Peter (Pete) Weber, all powerful business manager of Joey Fay's old local 825, Operating Engineers, Newark, N.J. This local has long been one of the powers in the 280,000 - member construction union.

THE OFFICERS of this local have long ruled an organization of skilled workers who could shut down several billion dollars worth of construction in the East—and probably as far into the Midwest as Illinois.

If Pete Weber is convicted, that power will be broken. He is the last of the old giants and now one of the first of the McClellan committee "witnesses" to be formally accused by the government.

The charge is conspiring to accept money and gifts from a company doing business with the union. Said gifts, according to the indictment, are five autos, $19,500, free use of a restaurant credit card, free gas and maintenance for his yacht. He is also accused of taking a piece of a company.

Others who sat on the old Senate committee hot seat soon will be hearing from its former chief counsel, now attorney general. Fellow by name of Bob Kennedy.

When she needs a babysitter she just brings her children to my home and leaves them. She never calls in advance to see if I have other plans. Although I'm not a social butterfly I occasionally have guests in and I go out once in awhile.

This morning my sister-in-law phoned and said irritably, "Why weren't you at home yesterday afternoon? I needed you to take care of the children. I banged on your door for 20 minutes."

I'm ashamed to admit I found myself apologizing for my absence but I'm reluctant to tell her how I feel about these impositions because I don't want trouble in the family. I'd appreciate your advice.—TAKEN FOR GRANTED.

Dear Taken: The letter that follows deals with a situation not even remotely similar to yours, but the advice for both of you appears in the very first paragraph of my response.

Dear Bothered: It's a continuing source of amazement to me that people allow themselves to be "bothered," "annoyed," "imposed upon" and even made physically ill by nervy, inconsiderate bores when a simple sentence can put an end to the whole business.

In this case the sentence is: "It makes me terribly self-conscious to play a hand when someone is looking over my shoulder. Would you mind not doing it?"

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Byrd Speaks Out

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Urges U.S. Change Attitude Toward Business

There's a crying need for "productivity" of tax rates. The United States government needs money with which to balance its budget. It can cut some of its expenses, of course, and of its spending programs. But this will not be a sufficient stimulus.

What is most important is a David Lawrence program to encourage business operations so as to generate more tax money — more receipts from corporations and individuals.

To put the national economy back on its feet is the most urgent problem before the country today. This cannot be done if governmental power is used in a restrictive and frustrating way.

It can be achieved only if the federal government recognizes clearly the facts of fiscal life — that the Treasury is a 52 per cent partner today in corporation profits and must act as a cooperative instead of an uncooperative partner.

Sen. Harry Byrd, D-Va., has a realistic conception of what's going on. He is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and a man who speaks his mind frankly and forthrightly. In a speech just delivered to the Delaware Bankers Association, he says:

"This nation has been on a deficit financing basis for 25 of the past 31 years. There was a $4-billion deficit last year, there will be a $7-billion to $10-billion deficit this year, and there will be another deficit of $3-billion to $5-billion in the coming fiscal year. . . .

"We are told that the fiscal situation will be all right if we balance the federal budget over a cycle of years, and that this will be taken care of automatically if the federal government will only spend enough to raise the gross national product high enough to produce the necessary revenue.

"This is evil fiction. It never has worked. It is not working now, and I can prove it. It won't work in the future, and it is dangerous to rely on it.

"A prudent government would balance its budget by stopping non-essential expenditure. This is not being done. The hard fact is that continuing deficits ultimately end in bankruptcy.

"When a nation goes bankrupt, its assets are not taken over and sold to satisfy its debts. Its money becomes worthless; its economy disintegrates; its form of government falls and changes."

THE VIRGINIA SENATOR

Other People's Money

By TRUMAN TWILL

As a lifelong have-not with no hope of striking oil, uranium or a rich relative, I confess my eyes bug out at the sight of large sums of money.

My thoughts grow confused and my mouth gets dry.

I marvel.

But one thing about prodigal spenders never fails to impress me. Almost without exception they are spending other people's money.

Or they are spending money deductible from their own taxable incomes.

When people are spending what comes out of their own tide, they tend to be prudent.

Prudence is not one of the behavior patterns that make friends flock around.

Which brings us to the most fascinating story of the day—the prodigality of the fabulous Billy Sol Estes, Texas wheeler and dealer.

Even at this early stage of the investigation into how this man beguiled so many people into believing what wasn't believable, it's plain that the ordinary horse sense of thousands of victims was paralyzed by the sweet smell of his money.

He had money by the basketful, and it appeared to be his mission in life to help others have it in large quantities. That was the guy's Sunday pitch.

He was willing to help everybody else make money, and they loved him for it.

They liked the gentle patter of $1,000 bills falling like raindrops wherever their favorite benefactor showered down.

There was something lovely about the generosity of this man who made it a rule that anyone who asked should receive twice.

He was a prodigal giver. That should have been the tip-off. Billy Sol Estes was too prodigal to be true. He wouldn't have shoveled out money at such an unbelievable rate if it had been his own.

But because he was shrewd enough to make so many people bask in the sunshine of his generosity, the unbelievable rate was made believable. It's reported now that in the places in Texas points out, too, that previous federal deficits have been "a prime factor in inflation which continues to reduce the value of the dollar."

What this means is that since 1939 the dollar has gone down from 100 cents to 46.1 cents as of March of this year.

Sen. Byrd says he suspects that, when the figures come in, it will be found that the dollar has gone down further in April and May. He adds:

"In short, our situation is characterized by increasing debt, continuing deficits, and threatening inflation. Such a situation doesn't inspire confidence at home or abroad; but we need confidence in the dollar now as we never needed it before.

"I say this because loss of our gold, through withdrawals by foreigners . . . in its own way . . . imperils our security like an atomic bomb. Foreign nations and their central banks take our gold when they lose confidence in the dollar. Precisely this is happening."

Sen. Byrd says that, if the balance-of-payments deficit grows more serious and America's gold flows to other countries in larger and larger quantities, there will be talk of "diluting the dollar's gold base or reneging on our policy of offering the gold-or-dollar option in foreign payments."

He emphasizes that "we dare not consider action in either direction while the dollar is under fire of domestic deficits and declining value."

THIS IS PLAIN TALK from one of the most powerful men in the United States Senate, whose words are respected far and wide. He insists that "drastic action" must be taken to reverse the downward trend. He sums it up this way:

"We must go to the root causes of the situation before it is too late. The root causes are huge deficits at home and huge deficits in our financial transactions abroad. Those in authority must act to restore confidence in the dollar."

It is obvious that the cause of the trouble is not deficits by themselves but failure to embark on a program that looks toward a rapid growth of tax receipts. This can be done not merely by revising Treasury regulations on depreciation so as to encourage plant expansion and modernization of equipment but by a general change in the attitude of the administration and its advisers toward business as a whole.

There must be a dynamic means of generating a flow of profits so that investors will find it attractive to participate in America's enterprises, both here and abroad.

where he was known best the skeptics had tumbled to him before the investigators began to paw through his files. But in other places where he should have been sized up realistically, all that anyone looked at was the prodigality of his scale of spending.

He was something to see. The guy must have dropped enough loose change in the course of shuffling all those millions to support a family. The clincher of the entire case may turn out to be the fact he was paying no federal income taxes at a time when his bemused admirers were gape-mouthed over the way he had become a multimillionaire.

As a have-not, I admit my heart beats faster at the thought of the millions this fabulous fellow threw around. Also at the thought of all the smart people who never suspected that no man in his right mind would spend money he earned himself at a rate like that. There had to be something fishy about it.

I think there was something fishy about some of them too.

The double ring ceremony was performed before a fireplace decorated with lilacs, bridal veil spirea and other spring flowers.

Treating Respiratory Infections

In treating the infant or child with an upper respiratory infection, here are suggestions of what to do and NOT do

Dress the youngster in tight-fitting flannels or woolens, but don't smother him with layers and layers of clothes, blankets, sweaters and scarves. To keep him comfortably warm, you need only prevent his body heat from escaping.

With your doctor's permission, control his discomfort and fever with powdered aspirin. Buy 5-grain tablets of acetyl-salicylic acid.

Between 2 spoons, powder a 5-grain tablet. Float half the amount every 3 or 4 hours, in milk or cocoa and give it to the child to drink, mix it with ice cream or some other semisolid that the child enjoys, or give it in a carbonated beverage.

1,000 OSU Faculty Members Back Prexy In Controversy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More than 1,000 Ohio State University faculty members have thrown their support behind President Novice G. Fawcett—the center of a broiling controversy over university policy on inviting speakers to the campus.

The vote of confidence came Monday at a spirited, jam-packed meeting attended by upwards of 1,500 faculty members who received cheers and jeers from about 1,000 students watching the proceedings from a balcony.

Ohio State has about 3,000 faculty members.

The voting faculty members adopted a resolution, 1,036 to 509, supporting the action of Fawcett when he canceled the appearance on campus last month of three controversial speakers. To be eligible to vote on matters of policy, faculty members must be at the university for at least six quarters.

Since the cancellation, one group of faculty members has urged the National Association of University Professors to investigate the situation. They contend the president has no authority to overrule faculty in selecting speakers.

Fawcett called the meeting primarily to explain why he canceled the appearance April 25 of three members of the controversial Emergency Civil Liberties Committee.

But when he finished his 40-minute explanation, Fawcett opened the floor to speakers and the resolution was introduced, along with several others which eventually were brushed aside by an abrupt motion to adjourn the meeting.

Fawcett listed two reasons for his action in canceling the appearance of the three speakers.

First, Fawcett said, in his judgment the three failed to meet university rules permitting the appearance of only those speakers who can contribute to the intellectual growth of the university.

Secondly, he said, the sponsoring group, Students for Liberal Action, said in its request for an auditorium that the affair was to be one of a series of nationwide rallies protesting congressional hearings.

At one point, Fawcett was interrupted by applause when he declared: "Academic freedom is not designed to become the tool of its own destruction. Freedom must not destroy freedom in the name of freedom."

Next 2 Weeks May Answer Pertinent Baseball Questions

Giants May Be Runaway In NL

Yanks Domination Of AL Could Cease

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The next two weeks may bring answers to three very pertinent questions hovering over the baseball horizon:

1. Is the rest of the American League, after years of being spread-eagled by the New York Yankees, finally catching up to the practically perennial champions?

2. Are the Cleveland Indians, pennantless since 1954, really a threat?

3. Are the San Francisco Giants going to become the first National League runaway winner since the Dodgers, then in Brooklyn, waltzed to a pennant in 1955.

A couple of weeks ago, Gabe Paul, general manager of the Indians, boldly stated that the Yankees would be hard pressed to repeat as champions this year. Taken lightly was his assertion that other clubs, including his own, had built themselves up to the Yankees.

Today, Paul's assertions have more meaning than they did two weeks ago, because of (a) Cleveland's current position at the head of the league (b) the Indians' early dominance of the Yankees whom they've beaten five times in seven meetings and (c) the league standings which show only 4½ games separating the first eight clubs.

There's no doubt that Gabe has revived the forlorn Indians of a year ago when they barely managed to squeeze into the first division, a whopping 30½ games behind the winning Yankees.

In a house-cleaning job, he changed managers and replaced several of last year's regulars with young, eager and speedy newcomers. The new manager, youthful Mel McGaha, besides establishing order and harmony, had fashioned a different club based on speed, pitching and defense.

Probably the biggest improvement has been in the club's bench, which has become one of the deepest and most maneuverable in the league. In the weekend series with the Yankees, McGaha platooned six outfielders and each contributed nobly in the club's three victories in four decisions.

In Sunday's double triumph, the second doubleheader sweep the Indians have accomplished over the Yankees—Ty Cline, Chuck Essegian, Willie Kirkland, Willie Tasby and Don Dillard—collected 10 hits. Two of them were important pinch hits by Dillard.

An important factor in the Indians' showing this year against the Yankees, to whom Cleveland lost 14 of 18 last year, has been second baseman Jerry Kindall, acquired in a trade with the Cubs. As a defensive whiz, he has steadied the infield.

The Giants, combining a devastating batting attack with surprisingly strong pitching, threaten to upset the pattern that has produced a tight National League race in each of the last seven seasons.

The next two weeks may be the turning point. The Giants, with a four-game lead over their nearest rivals, will play 13 of their next 15 games at home. At the conclusion of a three-game series with the St. Louis Cardinals starting tonight the Giants play Houston four times, Philadelphia and New York three each. The home stand will be interrupted by a two-game series at Los Angeles.

If the Giants widen their present margin appreciably, there may be no stopping them. Even with Willie Mays in a batting slump, the Giants have sent to the showers all but two of the 32 starters they've faced.

Monday was an off day in both leagues.

Greenford Grid Coach Accepts New Position

Gerald Morey, football coach at Greenford High School the past season, has resigned to accept a teaching position at Austintown Fitch High School. The 24-year-old coach also taught industrial arts at Greenford.

No decision has been made by Austintown school officials on using Morey on the sports staff, which is being readjusted for next season.

Morey is a 1960 graduate of Western State College at Gunson, Colorado where he held down the center position on the football team. Earlier, he played four years of football at North Lima High.

Veteran Pro Golfer Nips Pott To Cop Top Money

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Arnold Palmer finished with a typical birdie barrage to beat young Johnny Pott for the championship of the $40,000 Colonial National Invitation. Then he announced a conscientious attack on the all-time, money-winning record for one year in professional golf.

Nerveless Arnie took a giant stride in that direction Monday when he trimmed Pott by four strokes in an 18-hole playoff to drag down the $7,000 first money.

Leading by a single stroke after nine holes, the cool-headed Pennsylvanian methodically birdied three of the next seven holes to win in a breeze.

He had a one under par 37-32-69 while Pott, playing out of Gulf Hills, Miss., came in with 38-35-73. Pott earned $3,500.

The victory, third straight and sixth of the year for Palmer, boosted his official earnings to $59,308. It left him less than $16,000 behind the one-year record of $75,268, set by himself in 1960.

"I will play more now than I previously expected since I have a good chance to break the record," he said.

Palmer, winning his eighth of 11 playoffs, said he plans to rest a little, practice a little for the National Open, play a few exhibitions and rejoin the tour at the Memphis Open in three weeks.

Davidson Selected Best Frosh Athlete At Davidson

Don Davidson, a 6-5, 190 pound pre-med student, has been named the outstanding athlete in the freshman class at Davidson College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Davidson of Butcher Rd.

Davidson was chosen by the men of the college D Club for his outstanding performances in basketball and track with the college's freshman teams.

In basketball Davidson averaged 16.9 points and pulled down 12.6 rebounds per game to pace the Wildkittens to a 15-3 season.

In track and field events Davidson sparked the Wildkittens in hurling the javelin, broad jump, the hop-step-and-jump and the discus toss. Already throwing up to 172 feet with the javelin and 129 feet with the discus, he's expected to challenge the college and Southern Conference records before he's through.

Prior to enrolling at Davidson College, Davidson starred at Salem and was the state's first all-stater in both high school football and basketball.

Gridder Sues Detroit Lions

Former Boston Star Demands $107,500

DETROIT (AP) — A former Boston College football star is suing the Detroit Lions of the National Football League for $107,500.

Jim O'Brien, 23, Hamden, Conn., tackle who failed to make the Lion squad in 1960, asked $100,000 in damages and $7,500 in contract pay in a suit filed in U.S. District Court Monday.

The $100,000 is to cover "defamation and slander" which prevented O'Brien from getting another job in football "commensurate with his ability," the suit says.

O'Brien charged the Lions arbitrarily dismissed him after he suffered a dislocated shoulder in an exhibition game with the Cleveland Browns before the start of the regular season that year.

O'Brien's lawyer said he hoped the lawsuit would result in a precedent to protect players in organized pro football. Under NFL contracts, players usually do not get paid until they have made the squad or the regular season has begun.

The Lions in serving notice on O'Brien told him he had failed to "demonstrate sufficient skill and capacity," the lawyer said.

"This defamed him to the extent that no other team wanted him whereas the truth of the matter was that he was hurt and couldn't play."

Plante Named Most Valuable Hockey Player

MONTREAL (AP) — Although the Montreal Canadiens failed for the second straight year to win the Stanley Cup title, their star goalie, Jacques Plante, has collected enough bonus money to take an expensive vacation this summer.

Plante was named the winner Monday of the Hart Memorial Trophy as the National Hockey League's most valuable player. This boosted his total bonus earnings to $5,250.

The masked netminder received $1,000 each for winning the Hart and Vezina Trophies, and for placing on the circuit's first all-star team. In addition, he received $1,500 as his share of Montreal's first place money and $750 as a member of a losing team in the Stanley Cup semifinals.

Plante polled 94 points in the Hart Trophy balloting by hockey writers and broadcasters in the six NHL cities. Doug Harvey, player-coach of the New York Rangers, was second with 60 points and Bobby Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks was third with 53.

REVERSING THE RECORD

Says Willie Will Still Play

Giants Manager Not Worried About Mays' Hitting Slump

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — San Francisco Giants star Willie Mays had a new experience when he came to Houston for three games with the Houston Colts. He couldn't hit the ball.

He made 13 tries but managed only one hit and walked once.

"I can't see the ball," Mays said with a frown.

Players with other teams also have complained about Colt Stadium lighting. It is the minimum allowed in National League parks.

The lights may not be the only thing troubling Mays, however. He got his lone hit under the lights. Sunday afternoon he went to the plate four times and walked away hitless.

Despite Mays' batting slump the Giants beat the Colts twice in the three-game weekend series.

Mays is batting .268, a poor figure for him. Pitchers don't think about the average, though. When the thick-shouldered man with the big 24 on his back steps into the box, pitchers are more careful than they would be if Mays were to turn into a diamond back rattlesnake.

Mays said he had no real answer for his inability to find the range against the Colts, freshmen of the National League.

"I'm just not hitting for some season. My timing is apparently off, but I hope that it won't be for long," he said.

"Of course I would like to have gotten some hits, but I hate it even more that I disappointed the folks in the stands."

Giants manager Alvin Dark was asked if he plans to give Mays a

Soviet Cage Stars To Make U.S. Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Towering Russians traveling through the country, whipping American basketball teams, while this nation's best players are sitting on the sidelines.

That's the picture that is shaping up today, as the battle for control of amateur sports in the country daily grows more bitter.

The Russians could well be the ones that crack it wide open. They are due in November for a series of games in this country. Instead of playing the country's top college teams, they are likely to face some rag-tag pickup clubs.

The resulting furore could extend clear to the White House. It will affect U.S. chances in the 1964 Olympics, and the outcome of the fight will shape U.S. athletic policies for many years to come.

The Amateur Athletic Union, which is handling the Russian tour, said it had asked the colleges to let their top teams play the Russians, during the November tour, but had been refused. Col. Don Hull, the AAU's executive director said November was an awkward month, but that the time was selected by the Russians, through the State Department, and here was nothing he can do about it.

Walter Byers, for the NCAA, pointed out that college rules forbid teams playing before Dec. 1.

"I can not accept placing the blame for the timing of the Russian trip on the State Department. It is another example of poor management of the AAU," Byers said.

"It would take a convention to change our rules to let our teams play in November, and the AAU didn't ask us in time for the convention."

Both sides agreed there was a possibility that individual collegians might be able to play on an all-star-type team against the Russians, but each appeared to be waiting for the other side to make the first move.

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions:

Nervous tension is one of the leading ailments of civilization. But eight out of 10 people would feel less tense if they'd simply get one more hour of sleep a night, walk a mile or more a day in the open air—and worry a third as much about the other fellow's problems as they do their own.

All my life I've heard about kids earning their way into the circus by carrying water for the elephants, but I've never met one who did.

leaders of both houses. These late reports were found by U.S. policymakers to be signs of hope for a peaceful outcome to the Laotian crisis:

1. The fighting that started with Red seizure of the Lao government stronghold of Nam Tha last week has all but ceased. While this is not a cease-fire in the legal sense of returning government troops to positions they have lost, the fighting now is practically ended.

2. Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, the Laotian supposed to head up a nationwide government if it is ever formed, has given word to U.S. diplomats that he will end his lengthy Paris vacation and return home for negotiations on forming a coalition government. Phoumi Nosavan, strongman of the Laotian regime who is now in Taiwan, also has indicated he will return to negotiate.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who saw American Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow Sunday, is reported to have given no assurance that the Soviets will press the Laotian rebels to maintain a cease-fire. Khrushchev was said to be still professing a desire for a neutral government for Laos.

Seminar Is Tonight At Beaver Local

Financing will be one of the major topics at a school affairs public seminar tonight at 7:30 at Beaver Local Public School.

George M. Van Horne, executive head, says the meeting is a follow-up to one held April 30. Dr. Paul K. Howells of Kent State University will speak on money matters.

Other topics on the agenda include the ungraded school system which will be tried on 230 first graders next fall, the reading program and adult education program. Van Horne will also explain two successful classroom innovations, the "semi-micro" setup being used in the physics and chemistry laboratories where two, rather than a group of students, collaborate on experiments, and an improved method of teaching higher mathematics which permits a student to progress at his own speed.

The "program of instruction" is now being used in trigonometry classes and may be enlarged to include algebra.

Djilas was sent to jail twice before for writings criticizing communism. While in prison in 1957, he was tried for spiriting out a book, "The New Class," which was published abroad. It dealt with the thesis that communism creates a privileged class.

East Palestine to Seek Federal Aid

EAST PALESTINE—City Council authorized Mayor Robert Harding to apply for financial aid from the federal government in the construction of the city's new $330,000 sewage treatment plant. The federal government will pay as much as 30 per cent of the cost if the city meets all requirements.

In other business, council asked local banks for bids as depositories for the city's funds. The bids call for interest payments on inactive funds. Council will act on the bids at its next meeting, May 21.

Post Office

ing is not too well-suited for classrooms, except possibly for some trades classes now taught at the Senior High building.

The old Post Office building, which was constructed 47 years ago, will become government surplus when the new Post Office at Columbia and Penn Streets opens next Monday.

The school board tabled the matter until it is determined whether or not the building will be available to the schools, and if so, under what conditions.

Meanwhile, the board is enthusiastically going ahead with plans to use classroom facilities in the Baptist Church next school year. Supt. Smith recently inspected the facilities there and he described them as excellent.

He said Rev. R. J. Hunter and church officials have been "exceedingly gracious" in offering the classrooms there for use by the public schools. No fee for use of the rooms has been established yet.

Original plans were to use the church facilities for kindergarten classes which otherwise would have to be held in the crowded McKinley School building. However, the superintendent says he now believes the facilities in the church are better suited for grades 4-6.

Salan

has returned to its natural gray.

The specific charges against Salan are that he took part in the short-lived generals' revolt in Algiers in April, 1961, and later took command of the underground secret army's terror campaign. Both insurrections were staged to defeat Algerian independence.

The prosecution will lay before the court documents and testimony charging that Salan, as head of the terrorists, was responsible for more than 2,000 attacks in Algeria and 400 in France, which caused more than 400 deaths and 1,100 injuries.

Salan denied none of the charges during the pre-trial investigation. Instead he asked the court to call De Gaulle and 132 other witnesses in an effort to widen the scope of the trial beyond the generals' revolt and the Secret Army campaign.

He apparently will attempt to discredit De Gaulle, to link him with an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Salan in 1957 and to prove that De Gaulle by agreeing to let Algeria choose independence betrayed the French army and the Algerian Europeans who brought him back to power in the 1958 uprising.

The court of three judges, four military officers and two civilians is expected to refuse to call most of the witnesses demanded by Salan. The French constitution bars any such appearance by De Gaulle as the chief of state.

"I am ready to die," Salan has said, "but first I intend to defend my honor."

Rutecki To Conduct Shelter Survey

LISBON — Al Rutecki of 402½ Washington St., Columbiana County Civil Defense director, Monday was appointed by county commissioners to fulfill the necessary obligations under the federal government's shelter survey program. He will get the necessary signatures on fallout shelters in the county.

In other business, the commissioners inspected two alleys in Millport and Liverpool Township on which vacating petitions were filed. Hearings on the petitions will be held June 4 in the commissioners' office.

The commissioners recessed their meeting until this morning, according to Rex Reich, clerk.

curfew in the city and ordered police to shoot on sight anyone caught on the streets. Before the violence stopped, police had killed some of the Moslem commandos and arrested a number of others.

By nightfall Algiers' streets were empty except for long convoys of French army vehicles and heavily guarded barricades thrown across major streets. Two department stores were gutted by bottles of gasoline hurled by the commandos.

The European secret army's goal has been to provoke the Moslems into reprisal attacks on Europeans in hopes this would bring the French army over to its side and torpedo the Evian peace agreement. But the secret army had hoped to trigger a Moslem uprising, not cold-blooded killing by commando forces using same tactics as the secret army. The Moslem commandos reportedly were operating according to a prepared battle plan.

They struck simultaneously from speeding cars in every sector of the city except the center. The apparent intent was to warn the secret army—and to prod the French government into more vigorous measures to crush the European terrorism.

Huston as secretary to fill the vacancy created by the recent resignation of Homer Barnhouse who quit to devote more time to his business.

The Rogers firemen have accepted invitations from three other departments to participate in parades in Liverpool Township, Beloit and Negley.

Meeting at the Community Hall last night, the firemen held a lengthy discussion about constructing a new fire department building. Pitzer was asked to investigate plans and cost of a new building.

Plans were discussed for the annual Strawberry - Ice Cream Festival June 16 at the Community Hall.

Fire Chief Sid Cowan reported there will be a practice work session for all firemen Thursday at 7 p.m. on property of the ABC Mining Co. off Rt. 7. Different types of chemicals will be used to practice putting out fires.

The next meeting will be June 11.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Volunteer Fire Department also met last night.

President Veda Cope announced that Mrs. Hobart Butcher of the Salem Red Cross office will be guest speaker at a meeting here June 7 at 8 p.m. The meeting will be held either at the Community Hall or at Rogers School. Mrs. Wayne Rudabaugh is chairman of the luncheon committee for that program.

Members of the auxiliary also discussed the festival. The auxiliary will be in charge of refreshments and bazaar table. Mrs. Cope called a special meeting for 8 p.m. next Monday at the Community Hall to complete plans for the event.
